

Oliver Hasse – Short Bio

With a background in business and finance, Oliver currently is Managing Director of INAM - the Innovation Network for Advanced Materials. More than 20 years ago, he started his career in political consulting and advocacy work in London, Brussels and Berlin to then take on various leadership roles in management consulting, focussing on finance and innovation strategy in high-tech sectors. His passion for innovation and entrepreneurship led him to work with founders and deeptech startups over recent years, including as a mentor for AdMaCom since 2017 and Vali Berlin since 2020.”