There will be plenty of time and space for your company to interact with participants at all levels.

The meeting is planned as a physical meeting, where we expect about 150-250 participants, and will thereby provide perfect opportunities for you to promote new and innovative technologies, products, and services. The exhibition area will be in direct connection with the lecture and poster halls and all coffee servings will take place in the exhibition area.

Founded in 1926, CORLAS (Collegium Oto-Rhino-Laryngologicum Amicitiae Sacrum, www.corlas.org) is an academic organization whose members are physicians and researchers in the field of Otorhinolaryngology – Head and Neck Surgery, and it organizes annual meetings (CORLAS Meeting) to discuss related and current research topics. The members are selected through deliberations based on recommendations from CORLAS members in each country and approval by the General Assembly, and only physicians and researchers who have made outstanding achievements in research and development in the field of Otorhinolaryngology - Head and Neck Surgery are permitted to join the CORLAS. Today CORLAS has more than 600 members from 50 nations. For nearly hundred years the CORLAS meetings have conjured a venue for scientists within the field of Otorhinolaryngology - Head and Neck Surgery from all over the world promoting friendship and understanding not restricted by national and religious affiliations.

CORLAS was founded in 1926, in Groningen in the Netherlands by two Dutch scientists, Charles Emile Benjamins and Adriaan De Kleyn in the aftermath of World War I that had killed or injured millions of human beings. The idea was to offer a scientific setting in the north of the Netherlands where international leaders from "both sides" could again exchange their thoughts. The intent of giving birth to CORLAS can thus be seen as a diplomatic initiative to solve a political problem. The soundness of this challenging project was fully demonstrated by the growing attendance to the following annual meetings and the elaboration of rules safeguarding the spirit on which the Collegium is, still nowadays, grounded. Among all the prominent founding members were Robert Barany, Nobel prize winner 1914 and Hendrik Zwaardemaker president of the founding meeting.

CORLAS is supported by the international journal Acta Oto-Laryngologica the official journal of The European Federation of Otolaryngological Societies..

Most welcome!
